INTRODUCTION

Based on the General Academic Policies and Norms, and with the objective of incorporating international experiences into students' education, Tecnológico de Monterrey signs international academic cooperation agreements with foreign educational institutions. Through these agreements, undergraduate and graduate students at Tecnológico de Monterrey could complete part of their academic program at foreign universities, provided they meet the participation requirements and the provisions contained in these regulations.

The formulation of these regulations is the responsibility of the Internationalization Vice-Rector; therefore, any modification to this document must be proposed to the Committee of Internationalization Representatives and approved by the Educational Innovation and Academic Norms Vice-Rector and by the Rector of Tecnológico de Monterrey.

CHAPTER I

International Program Opportunities

Article 1

Students who wish to participate in an international program must approach the International Programs Department since this is the only entity with the authority to offer international academic study abroad opportunities organized by Tecnológico de Monterrey and through which they can transfer credit for educational units from their curriculum.

Article 2

The student may earn academic credit at Tecnológico de Monterrey for studies completed at a foreign educational institution through a cooperation agreement established by Tecnológico de Monterrey, provided that the requirements set forth in the Regulations for the Management and Operation of International Programs for the corresponding academic level are met. At each university, students may earn credit for up to 24% of the academic credits in their study plan, and the total accumulated may not exceed 50% of the academic credits in their study plan.

Learning Units taken abroad under the direct instruction of Tecnológico de Monterrey shall not be considered as taken at a foreign institution for the purposes of this article. For dual-degree programs established jointly with foreign partner universities, up to a maximum of 75% of the total academic credits that make up the study plan may be incorporated because of accreditation, validation, or equivalency procedures.

Article 3

In trimester, semester and annual international programs, students have the right to transfer credit per academic period up to the full academic load corresponding to their curriculum, as long as they are studying the full academic load of the foreign institution. Otherwise, the student's academic advisor will define the number of educational units or credits for which credit can be transferred, according to a review of the courses studied abroad, their content, their academic load and the policies provided for this purpose. This credit transfer proposal must be authorized by the Office of the Registrar of the student's campus of origin. In summer or winter intensive programs, undergraduate students can transfer a maximum of six academic credits.

Article 4

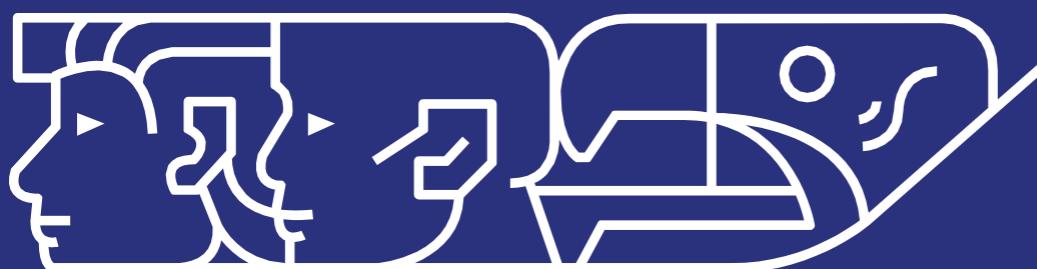

International programs must comply with all the academic aspects specified in the General Academic Policies and Regulations, the Undergraduate Academic Regulations, the Graduate Academic Regulations, the Regulations for Managing and Operating Undergraduate International Programs, the Regulations for Managing and Operating Graduate International Programs, the academic regulations of the foreign institution in question and these regulations.

Article 5

International connections and experience programs do not guarantee course or educational unit credit transfer. If credit transfer is offered and an overseas university is not available to issue a transcript, students must have a remote tutor professor from Tecnológico de Monterrey. The tutor assigned to the case will be the person responsible for issuing the respective decision on credit transfer for educational units.

Article 6

Students cannot receive academic credit for the extra-curricular activities in which they participate abroad.

CHAPTER II

CHAPTER II

Participation Requirements

Article 7

In order to participate in any of the international programs, students must meet one of the following requirements:

- d. Comply with the specifications of the program in which they wish to enroll.
- e. Satisfactorily complete the procedures for participating in an international program, including, but not limited to, participation application, selection and authorization of the educational units to be studied, submission of documents, payment of fees, and completion of immigration procedures with the corresponding official entity.
- f. Carry out their academic and administrative enrollment in order to be officially enrolled at Tecnológico de Monterrey during the period they will be studying abroad.

- iv. Civil liability.
- v. Repatriation of mortal remains.

Students cannot cancel the international medical insurance policy if it is included in the cost of the program.

If the program does not include international medical insurance and the foreign institution does not require the acquisition of a specific policy, the student, parents or legal guardian will be free to choose any insurance company they wish. Before leaving Mexico, participating students, or their parents or legal guardian, must prove compliance with this requirement.

- j. Have national major health insurance.
- k. Have tuition fee payment insurance.

Article 8

Students can participate in international programs in any period of their academic program, as long as they meet the specific requirements of the program in which they wish to participate. Students should take into consideration that their graduation must take place at least one semester after returning from abroad, in which they must study at least 8 units or 3 academic credits for undergraduate programs or 2 academic credits for graduate programs.

Article 9

Students can only participate in an international program if they have been accepted and are enrolled in the international program in question.

Article 10

Students must demonstrate proficiency in the language in which classes will be taught at the foreign university. Each internationalization opportunity specifies the language proficiency requirements in terms of minimum length of time the language has been studied and/or the score that the students should obtain in the defined tests, which must be valid when completing the participation application. In addition to the language requirements, the foreign institution reserves the right to establish the minimum requirements for participating in the program.

CHAPTER III

CHAPTER III

Application Process

Article 11

It is compulsory and the responsibility of students, their parents or legal guardian to consult and review the information on the requirements and policies for participating in international programs. Article 14

Students must attend all the informative meetings and be familiar with the information presented there, since ignorance of the same does not excuse them from the commitments and responsibilities established in the meeting.

Article 15

Students will receive in writing the acceptance letter from the foreign university to the international program through the program administrating entity.

Article 16

If students have an accident during an activity of the program in which they are participating, the academic coordinator in charge of and the organizations involved in said program can help them to seek emergency medical and legal services. Any non-urgent treatment or matters must be authorized by the students or their parents or legal guardian.

Article 17

Students who receive some form of financial aid from Tecnológico de Monterrey may participate in international exchange programs, provided that they meet the academic requirements of the program and the collaboration agreement with the foreign institution states that tuition costs must be covered at Tecnológico de Monterrey. Students must only enroll at the foreign institution in courses for which they can transfer credit for their curriculum.

Article 18

If students who receive some form of financial aid participate in Double Degree programs with foreign universities, by means of an agreement authorized by Tecnológico de Monterrey, or in programs that, by definition, have a duration of one year, they can count on receiving such financial aid.

Article 19

review of the requirements for finalizing their academic program at Tecnológico de Monterrey.

Article 25

Students and, if they are minors, their parents or legal guardian, must know and accept in writing, before leaving Mexico, the grade scale and equivalence that will be used for transferring credit for the courses or educational units to be studied at the foreign institution. Courses or educational units that are failed at the foreign institution will be considered as failed at Tecnológico de Monterrey in their respective academic load and grade equivalence. They will be recorded as such on the student's transcript.

Article 26

All cancellations prior to or during to the student's participation must be notified in writing to the program administrating entity within the deadlines set by the same; the notification must be signed by the student and, in the case of minors, by the student's parents or legal guardian.

CHAPTER V

CHAPTER V

While Abroad

Article 30

If the student's participation is cancelled for reasons attributable to the foreign institution, payments made by the student for the cost of the international program will be reimbursed. In these cases, Tecnológico de Monterrey is not obligated to reassign the student to another international program.

Article 31

The international program administrating entity cannot guarantee that the foreign institution will offer the courses selected by the student. Article 41

Students who are interested in extending the period of their studies during their stay abroad must participate in the international program rounds process again, for the period of interest. Unexpected or extraordinary events will be understood as, though not limited to: a natural disaster, an act of terrorism, a serious accident or any act considered illicit in the host country, or any other extraordinary event, among others.

Article 45

Tecnológico de Monterrey can suspend students' participation in the international program if there are any risks to their health or physical integrity; any resulting additional costs will be covered by the student.

Article 46

No refunds will be made if for reasons beyond the control of Tecnológico de Monterrey, the student is unable to participate in or complete the program, drops out of the program, is sent back to the campus of origin owing to an offense committed during the international program, or fails educational units. In these cases, Tecnológico de Monterrey will not enroll the student during the ongoing academic period.

for a period of time determined in accordance with the provisions of Article 42 of the General Student Regulations.

 5. Act with the greatest possible diligence in order to establish the appropriate preventive measures when the student's health or wellbeing, owing to any circumstance, could be at risk.

Article 60

When the foreign institution imposes one or several sanctions on the student, Tecnológico de Monterrey will respect the sanctions imposed and oversee their strict fulfillment. In addition, Tecnológico de Monterrey can convene the formation of a Disciplinary Committee and apply further sanctions if considered appropriate.

Article 63

When the investigation results in the need to form a Disciplinary Committee and the investigation is complete, the overseas academic advisor will turn the case over to the international program administrating entity, which will inform the student's campus of origin so the aforesaid committee can be formed. The overseas international program academic advisor can appear before the committee, if deemed necessary by the same, in order to give an account of the events.
